About NASSS

North American Society for the
Sociology of Sport

Our Mission

The North American Society for the Sociology of Sport (NASSS) exists to promote, stimulate, and encourage the sociological study of play, games, sport and contemporary physical culture.

Our History

At the end of the final session of the 2nd Big Ten CIC Symposium on the Sociology of Sport at the University of Minnesota (1978), Andrew Yiannakis called for the formation of a sociology of sport society. A group of about twenty interested members endorsed the need to form such a society and called for the formation of a steering committee composed of Susan Greendorfer, Lee Vander Velden, Peggy Cramer, Eldon Snyder and Yiannakis. Yiannakis was appointed Chair of this committee, Susan Greendorfer assumed the position of Treasurer and Lee Vander Velden became Secretary. The steering committee was entrusted with the task of starting a newsletter, collecting membership dues, planning for an annual conference and investigating the feasibility of starting a journal. The first newsletter, known as The NASSS Newsletter, was published in December of 1978. Andrew Yiannakis was the first editor and was later joined by John Sugden, who assumed the role of associate editor.

Founders: Andrew Yiannakis, Susan Greendorfer

The 2018 Annual Conference
North American Society for the Sociology of Sport
October 31 – November 3, 2018
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Conference Theme:
Sport Soundtrack: Sport, Music, & Culture

As early as the first Olympic Games, sport has moved to the harmonies of music. In and throughout the event music has been used to frame the games through the “Olympic Hymn”, “Bulger’s Dream”, and “Summon the Heroes”. Appreciatively, each representative host country has framed the Games with their nation’s musical expression soundtrack. Across the globe, sport and music occupy the same space to set the tone of a sporting event, serve as a backdrop for a performance, support an athlete in their development and preparation, or facilitate the delivery of fitness training. Sport and music as cultural institutions share a bond, some might say they have a symbiotic relationship as they have worked together to elevate the production and consumption of their respective products. Sport and music forge communities, imbue national pride, and promote cultural identities.

CRITICAL ISSUES IN SPORT AND SOCIETY SERIES

Edited by Douglas Hartmann and Michael Messner

Critical Issues in Sport and Society features scholarly books that help expand our understanding of the myriad ways in which sport is intertwined with social life in the contemporary world. Using the tools of various scholarly disciplines, including sociology, anthropology, history, media studies and others, books in this new series investigate the growing impact of sport and sports-related activities on various aspects of social life as well as key developments and changes in the sporting world and emerging sporting practices. Series authors produce groundbreaking research that brings empirical and applied work together with cultural critique and historical perspectives written in an engaging, accessible format.

ALAN INGHAM MEMORIAL ADDRESS | PLAZA BALLROOM

9:30AM – 10:45AM

Dr. Alan Ingham Memorial Address is a keynote in remembrance of the life and work of Dr. Alan Ingham.

Dr. Mary McDonald, Professor, Homer C. Rice Chair in Sports and Society will deliver the 2018 Alan Ingham Memorial Lecture with “Once More, With Feeling” Sporting Anthems and the Affective Turn.”

Mary G. McDonald (Ph.D., University of Iowa) is a past president of the North American Society for the Sociology of Sport, Professor McDonald has published more than 40 refereed articles and book chapters and co-edited Reading sport: critical essays on power and representation, a foundational work in the field which earned a Choice award as a top academic title. Her research focuses on American culture and sport including issues of inequality as related to gender, race, class and sexuality. She has edited special issues of the Sociology of Sport Journal devoted to (Post) "identity and sport" and "whiteness and sport" and is a frequent speaker on these and other subjects in professional forums and other venues. She is currently a member of the Executive Board of the International Sociology of Sport Association (ISSA) serving a term (2016-2019) as Vice President in charge of communications. As Homer C. Rice Chair, she directs the Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts initiative in Sports, Society, and Technology.

PLENARY ADDRESS | PLAZA BALLROOM

3:00PM – 4:00PM

This year’s NASSS Plenary Session “Sport, Social Innovation & Impact: Opportunities for Qualitative Researchers” features three dynamic professionals from viaSport. “At viaSport, we believe that all British Columbians deserve equitable opportunities to develop and realize their potential through sport – as an athlete, coach, official or volunteer.” The goals of viaSport are “To grow participation, viaSport: a) Leads social innovation with partners to research and pilot changes required to make sport more inclusive; b) Emboldens and enables sport leader capacity through education, evaluation and standards; and c) Collaborates across sectors to leverage investment”.

As Chief Executive Officer for viaSport, Sheila Bouman is working with partners across sport, health, education and community to lead a united approach for a healthy, active British Columbia where sport inspires a field of possibilities for all.

Sheila brings close to 20 years of experience helping organizations transform, both as a consultant and as an executive of the global technology company. Committed to community service, Sheila has also served on several non-profit boards and committees, and in 2011, completed one term as a Trustee for the Board of Education. Through her career, she has helped build high performing organizations that put people first. In addition to accolades from Achievers, Glassdoor and Best in Biz, she was also recognized as a 2014 YWCA Women of Distinction nominee for her ability to drive innovation and strategic direction.

Sheila graduated from the University of British Columbia with a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Education, and is also a certified Executive Coach.

Shawna Lawson, Director of Research & Social Innovation, holds a Master's degree in Kinesiology from the University of British Columbia, and focused her research on the sustainability policies and partnerships of the London 2012 Olympic Games. Her areas of expertise include critical sport studies, qualitative research methodology, sport mega-event policy analysis, and public relations. Shawna's approach is research-centered, solutions-oriented, and laser focused on positive change.

Formerly a nationally competitive soccer player and dancer, Shawna now participates in more joint-friendly activities like yoga and cycling. Originally from Saskatchewan, she spends a lot of her time reveling at the beauty of BC in the trails and on the beach. Shawna also holds a Bachelor in Kinesiology from the University of British Columbia and has worked with athletes across the lifespan, from age 5 to 95.

Caitlin Pentifallo Gadd holds a PhD in sociology of sport from the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, BC. Her dissertation investigated urban development projects in sport mega-event host cities, primarily focused on the evaluation of the 2010 Winter Olympic Games hosted by Vancouver. Caitlin's research was largely based around negotiations surrounding the Vancouver Olympic Athletes' Village and the delivery of social housing units, as well as efforts to organize a socially inclusive event.

Caitlin has been a major recipient of grant-based funding from the IOC and FIFA, having led one of the largest research projects ever on the social impacts of the 2015 FIFA Women's World Cup hosted across Canada. She is certified under the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) and has Event Organizers' Sector Supplement (EOSS) experience. She also has experience working on the Olympic Games Impact (OGI) study for Vancouver 2010.

Caitlin currently works at viaSport British Columbia as the Director of Innovation and Impact, overseeing a portfolio of over $16 million dollars in provincial investment dedicated to developing the amateur sport sector. Caitlin's projects include policy development, funding oversight, evaluation processes, inclusion, and all research-related initiatives.

Sports in Higher Education

Issues and Controversies in College Athletics

Edited by Gary Sailes

Sports in Higher Education: Issues and Controversies in College Athletics provides students with a comprehensive foundation in the study of college sports. While college sports scandals have dominated the news recently, these scandals are offset by fan interest, increasing revenue streams, extensive television coverage, and alumni interest and support. This text informs readers about college sports as a critical aspect of the university education system, with material written by experts in their respective areas in sport management and the sociology of sport.

The comprehensive readings in Sports in Higher Education explore topics such as crime and violence in intercollegiate sports and sport reform. The goal of the material is not only to inform and educate, but to stimulate dialogue about college sports, and move understanding of this topic beyond box scores and championships, to encompass ethics, philosophy, sociology, and the education of the student-athlete as a whole person.

Modern Sport and the African American Experience

Edited by Gary Sailes

Modern Sport and the African American Experience is a collection of essays from some of America's most brilliant and vibrant sport sociologists and race scholars. This text highlights more of the experiences of African Americans in modern sport than any of its kind. Among its diverse topics, this book examines predictions about African American sports performance and participation in the 21st century, discusses the role of sport in African American culture, and gives a candid look at the experiences of African American athletes attending America's predominantly white colleges and universities. It also discusses the experiences of African American women in these environments, a largely ignored topic.

A book of this type would not be complete without also examining racism, discrimination, and the conflict black athletes and coaches encounter with the white establishment. This volume is a representation of Dr. Gary Sailes' well-known, much-respected scholarship and work as a consultant in American commercial sports.

Sport Soundtrack 2018 | Friday Addresses

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS | PLAZA BALLROOM

9:30AM – 11:00AM

Dr. Joshua I. Newman, Professor at Florida State University, will deliver the Presidential Address “Sport Sociology, In Question.”

Dr. Joshua I. Newman is a Professor of Media, Politics, and Cultural Studies in the Department of Sport Management at Florida State University. Dr. Newman’s research and teaching draw upon critical theory and co-present techniques to interrogate the cultural and political economies of sport and the active body. In addition to having published numerous journal articles and book chapters on issues pertaining to sport and body cultures of the U.S. South, Dr. Newman is the author of two books, Embodying Dixie: Studies in the Body Pedagogics of Southern Whiteness (Common Ground, 2010) and Sport, Spectacle, and NASCAR Nation: Consumption and the Cultural Politics of Neoliberalism (with Michael D. Giardina, Palgrave, 2011). His research manuscripts have been featured in The Sage Handbook of Qualitative Research, Cultural Studies Critical Methodologies, American Behavioral Scientist, the Review of Education, Pedagogy, and Cultural Studies, Journal of Sport and Social Issues, and Sociology of Sport Journal. Dr. Newman has served as a keynote or plenary speaker at the International Congress for Qualitative Inquiry and the Physical Cultural Studies Annual Conference and is an editorial board member of the Sociology of Sport Journal.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS | PLAZA BALLROOM

3:00PM – 4:30PM

Dr. Damion Thomas will present "The Role of Sport at the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture."

Damion Thomas is the Museum Curator of Sports for the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture. He earned a Ph.D. in United States History at UCLA. Prior to joining the museum, he was an assistant professor at the University of Maryland—College Park and the University of Illinois—Urbana/Champaign, where he taught courses that focused on sports in United States history, sports and U.S. race relations, and sports and black masculinity. He is the author of Globetrotting: African American Athletes and Cold War Politics.

NASSS Awards

Gary Sailes Graduate Diversity Scholarship

Gary “Doc” Sailes is an award-winning professor at Indiana University. He is widely recognized for his research and advocacy on collegiate sport access and Critical Race Theory. A champion of student-athlete development, Dr. Sailes has led Congressional hearings, and presented to the International Olympic Congress on abuses in college athletics and the value of diversity across sport. A recipient of the 2011 NASSS Distinguished Service Award, “Doc” continues his support of the NASSS community by bestowing resources that annually fund the Graduate Diversity Scholarship.

In recognition of the recommendation made by the Racial Diversity Committee in the fall of 2003, the NASSS Conference Program Committee has implemented a scholarship for a graduate student who is a member of a racial or ethnic “minority” group. The purpose of the scholarship is to create a mechanism to identify racial and/or ethnic “minority” graduate students who are doing research in the area of sport sociology, and to provide a means of supporting their work and association with NASSS. The award is for $500 to be applied toward expenses associated with attendance at the NASSS annual conference.

Barbara Brown Outstanding Student Paper Award

Barbara A. Brown was a professor of sport sociology at the University of Western Ontario from 1983 until 1990, when she died of cancer at the age of forty. Dr. Brown, who was President-Elect of NASSS at the time of her death, was widely recognized for her expertise on women in sport and leisure, her political commitment to extending girls' and women's opportunities for participation in sport, and her contributions to the development of a professional community of sport sociologists. She was also a dedicated mentor and teacher whose invaluable work with students is appropriately memorialized in the naming of this award for her.
